

Army

The Army's mission to maintain landpower dominance spans tactical operations, sustainment logistics, and cyber and technology capabilities. Supporting this mission requires a comprehensive understanding of the Army organization and its supporting and partner commands and organizations, as well as strong relationships with key decision-makers throughout.

The Army Team at The SPECTRUM Group (TSG) uses our experience successfully partnering with and serving at the most senior levels of the Army and the Department of Defense to help our clients strategically plan and accomplish business objectives involving Army requirements, the acquisition process, and systems lifecycle management.

For client missions spanning multiple defense and commercial sectors, TSG provides in-house expertise from more than 100 highly skilled consultants across our six Centers of Excellence, including experts in all military branches, BRAC, aerospace, international business and missions, security and cybersecurity, and Congressional and government relations.

Our Team's global experience spans senior leadership in the Army, Army Reserves, and Army National Guard forces, as well as public and private industry. We help our clients meet their goals across the spectrum of Army operations, logistics and technology.

Our mission is our clients' success. To learn more, and to meet our Army Team, please visit: www.spectrumgrp.com.
