Professional Experience

General Huntoon supports clients in building, managing, coaching and transforming their complex and high-performing organizations, drawing on his more than 20 years of executive-level strategic leadership experience. He helps clients achieve diverse business objectives using his strategic planning, analysis and geopolitical skills, and is an accomplished global speaker on strategic leadership and international security. At The SPECTRUM Group (TSG), General Huntoon supports a wide range of client business areas spanning international, defense, interagency, leader development, education and training, human resource management, and base realignment and closure projects, including as the leader of SPECTRUM Advantage, TSG's executive leadership training program.

Before joining The SPECTRUM Group, General Huntoon's last two U.S. Army leadership positions were as Superintendent of the U.S. Military Academy at West Point and as Director of the Army Staff. He also previously served as Commandant of the U.S. Army War College and as Deputy Commandant of the U.S. Army Command and General Staff College, and has built unparalleled subject matter expertise in strategic-level leader development and education in the military and private sectors.

General Huntoon also previously served as Director of U.S. Army Strategy, Plans and Policy, leading Army strategic planning and policy efforts and conducting significant military, agency and Congressional liaison. His broad global government-related experience as a senior military officer and senior-level stakeholder relationships provide significant value to his clients across diverse industries and diverse business objectives.
