

Marine Corps

Meeting the unique mission of the Marine Corps – to be a ready force when the nation is least ready – requires strategic expertise and a spectrum of technology-leveraged solutions across the five domain battlespace. The Marine Corps Team at The SPECTRUM Group (TSG) helps our clients make the resource-informed, capability-driven decisions that enable them to innovate, adapt and win.

We provide early-state market analysis and competitive intelligence, helping clients develop critical capabilities and fulfill requirements while building strategic partnerships. We identify client opportunities for market penetration and provide military, Congressional and Executive Branch advocacy and liaison to help further client business objectives.

Our Team also helps strategically position clients to successfully navigate the challenging acquisition and procurement processes.

We provide a full suite of mission support services expertise, from lifecycle logistics sustainment to the irregular warfare situations, asymmetric environments, and high-tech capabilities Marine Corps forces encounter. Our Team supports clients across the Marine Corps logistics, contracting and procurement spectrum, including those focused on personnel, readiness, training and simulation, research and development, joint and naval force integration, base and BRAC efforts, modernization and technology.

Our mission is our clients' success. Visit our website to learn more and to meet our Marine Corps Team: www.spectrumgrp.com.
